1. CDC has ordered that your movement be restricted because we have concluded that you are infected with a specified communicable disease. This action is necessary because there is a risk that the disease may spread to other people.
2. CDC will continue to provide input and consultation on issues relating to the diagnosis, management, and methods for preventing the spread of communicable disease to the health staff of the medical facility to which your movement has been restricted.
3. The time that you remain under restricted movement may not exceed, as determined by the CDC Director, the period of incubation and communicability (the maximum length of time that the disease may be spread to other persons) for the disease. CDC will continue to monitor your health condition so that the time that you remain under restricted movement will not last longer than necessary.
4. You may request that CDC conduct an administrative hearing to review this order. If you wish, you may also authorize a representative, such as a family member, physician, or attorney, to represent you at this hearing. The hearing may be conducted over the telephone, in writing, or through some other method designed to provide you (or your representative) with an opportunity to participate.
5. If you wish to request that CDC conduct an administrative hearing, you (or your representative) may do so by calling the Director's Emergency Operations Center at (770) 488-7100. CDC will provide you (or your representative) with written notice regarding when the hearing has been scheduled.
6. During the time that you are under restricted movement you should cooperate with the instructions of health staff and other authorized personnel.
7. Violations of this order may subject you to a fine of no more than $250,000 or one year in jail, or both, or as otherwise provided by law.
